Sullivan Goss – An American Gallery is pleased to present the third-year of their wildly popular 100 Grand exhibition. With 100 works of art priced at $1,000-(or less), curator Susan Bush and the community of artists working with her have created an exceptional opportunity for new and experienced collectors alike.

With works by artists both emerging and mid-career and by significant historical artists, the exhibition offers something for every artistic taste. Just in time for the holidays, 100 Grand is the perfect opportunity to make fine art a part of life for you or for someone you love.

Curated to include sculpture, paintings, prints, and assemblages, 100 Grand creates the ideal opportunity to begin your art collection or add something new and original to an existing collection. Make sure to mark your calendars for December 1, 2011, because our opening reception from 5 until 8pm will be a great way to start out the Holiday party season.
